

Soil Health / Cover Crop Workshop

WHEN: Thursday, September 5th, 9:00 a.m.

WHERE: Lincoln . We will be starting at the Randal Meyer Farm 1/4 mile west of the HH and Old 65 Junction at the grain bins. This will include the adjoining farms of Joe Reser and Fred Gruhn. (North of Lincoln on 65 Hwy take HH Hwy to the west about 2 miles. Follow Signs.) After the field discussion, we will move to the First Baptist Church Fellowship Hall located on Lamine St. in Lincoln for an air conditioned setting and a catered lunch.

Just follow the SWCD Event Signs!!!

WHAT: This will be a beginners workshop on Cover Crops, their pros and cons, and their effects on Soil Health.

Dr. David Hammer, from the University of Missouri Soil Health Lab, will be there to discuss the results of soil sample tests that were taken from these fields.

Rich Hoormann of the University of Missouri Extension will be there to discuss cover crops and their effects on the soil.

Other representatives from the University of Missouri Extension, Natural Resources Conservation Service, and our Local Landowners will be there to provide more information, and give personal insight on the topic.
